PRESENTATION OF NEW PLANS

Neighborhood residents are invited to attend a public meeting to discuss current plans to upgrade Ocean Avenue. The meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 19th at 7 P.M. in City College's little theater.

The meeting is sponsored by the Housing Conservation Institute, who have prepared a public improvements program together with the Dept. of City Planning. HCI has also received a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts in Washington, D.C. to prepare a coordinated improvement plan for the storefronts on Ocean Avenue.

Public Meeting on Ocean Avenue

The agenda will include a presentation by the architectural firm, EDAW inc., and by City officials who will discuss planned public improvements with 1977 Community Development funds (trash cans, crosswalk repaving, entrance signs and low interest rate loans, etc.)

Representatives from HCI, the Architectural firm, the City Planning Department and the Mayor's Office for Community Development will be available to answer any questions.

The College theater can be reached by parking near Judson and Phelan Avenues.

Follow the path near the Ornamental Horticulture buildings past the bungalows. There is free parking on campus after 6 P.M. except on Cloud Circle.

The success of this plan depends on neighborhood support...please try to join in this community effort.

REGISTER

OMI residents have until October 10 to register for the November 8 election.

Registration is now done simply by filling out a registration postcard and mailing it to the registrar of voters. These postcards can be obtained at the OMI-CA office at 201 Granada or by calling the San Francisco Registrar of Voters office at 558-3417.

Persons who voted in the last November's presidential election or in the August 2 special election, and have not moved since, need not register again.

October 23

CANDIDATES FORUM

OMI voters will be able to see and hear the November 8 candidates firsthand by attending the OMI-CA Candidates' Forum at 3 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 23 at the Temple Methodist Church Social Hall on Beverly St. near Shields. All supervisorial candidates for Districts 9 and 10 will be invited, as will candidates for city treasurer and city attorney. Refreshments will be served.

BROOKS PARK PICNIC

Neighorly Event October 8

A pot-luck picnic with the added attraction of an open coal roast presided over by Lonnie Lawson of OMI-CA, will be held at the proposed Brooks Family Park site. Located at Shields and Ramsell, the property offers a magnificent view.

The SF Planning Department has developed a proposal for a phased park development of the property. This has been up for review by the Art Commission. The Park Commission acquired the property as one of its open space acquisitions.

Everyone is invited to bring their favorite dish and share with others. Salads, breads, cakes, and beverages are particularly appropriate. The event is free except for a contribution for the roasted meat.

Mr. Lawson would like feedback from the community in order to plan the number of tables and amount of meat to have on hand. Call the OMI-CA office, days, 584-8188, or the Lawson residence after 5, 576-2808.

Come, join your OMI neighbors.

STREET FAIR IS ON — REALLY! October 15

The Street Fair promised for last month is now set for Saturday, October 15 on CAPITAL AVENUE BETWEEN DeMONTFORT and OCEAN AVENUES. 12 noon to 6 p.m.

Most of the entertainment promised for September along with the booths with food, great buys, and information will be there, plus some additions.

Those wishing booth space may make reservations at OMI-CA office, 201 Granada, 584-8188 (phone before coming in). $5.00 for information booths, $10.00 for sales booths.

The OMI-CA's RUMMAGE BOOTH will hold forth supervised by Henry Jefferson (leave your elegant rummage at the office).

Because of a time mixup, the necessary permits could not be secured in time last month. This month all seems to be in order!

PLAYGROUND DEDICATION OCTOBER 1

The Brotherhood Way Multipurpose Recreational Area, located at the foot of Head, off Randolph will be dedicated October 1, 2 p.m.

Lonnie Lawson, OMI-CA reports that there has been every effort to invite all the local people who have worked to bring this project to a completion, along with the Mayor and Jack Spring of the Park and Recreation Department.

"The objective is to acquaint area residents of the project completion and to get input for possible additional improvements," Lawson added. Refreshments will be served.

The construction, a multipurpose slab, offers space for a wide variety of uses, including off street skate board activity. There is a safety barrier fence close to Brotherhood Way.

To The People

Of the OMI Community

and Its Supporters

by Roy Jackson President of the OMI-CA

Several issues back in one of our monthly publications I asked for suggestions from the community. I also mentioned the need for a program for the purpose of helping our fellow community residents in the time of a crisis.

Just such thing happened several months ago, when in the early hours of the morning one of our community residents was awakened by the smell of smoke and before they knew anything their home was engulfed in flames. The result was a need for someone to turn to for help.

I realize that there are existing organizations to whom many of us already make contributions, but there is still room for an organization such as ours to let the residents know that we are there when and if the time should come that we could be of some assistance to them. Now may I ask: What do you think of the Idea?

We have been contacted by the Planning Department along with one of our neighboring associations for the purpose of forming a board to oversee the proposed sight (old Salvation Army building) to be our community center for the OMI. Mind you, there were only 35 notices sent out to get a feeling of the total community (that was what I was told). The bulk or majority of the notices were sent to the task force participants, and that was at the most 20 persons including myself. What I am really saying is that if the City Planning Department would like a feeling of the OMI district as to who they would like to see operate and be the Lead agency of this facility, don't you think since they are trying to serve the community to the very best of their ability, that they would make an honest attempt to get the word and the purpose of the meeting to the community by means of the news media, news public announcements, etc. I would like an explanation from the Planning Department as to why this sort of thing was not aired by such means. Since this project was first initiated by the efforts of the OMI-CA, we feel that the total community need to know about the proposed project.

We were sorry that our street fair was postponed; however, we are rescheduling this event and this time we expect to have the necessary confirmation from the board of Supervisors.

We hope that the total community will join hands with us in our efforts to make this a better community in which to live and raise our families and enjoy our investments. If you have any questions on the suggestions I have made, please feel free to call our office at 584-8188 and give us your input or have your questions answered.

Further to comment on the future of this community: let's make a habit of supporting your neighborhood businesses and help them bring to you residents of this community a better selection of merchandise and service.

This community is yours to develop and make into the kind of community you would like. This is still THE CITY THAT KNOWS HOW and with your help let's keep it that way.

So until our next publication I would like to leave with you these words:

Whether 60 or 16 there is in every being's heart the love of wonder, the sweet amazement at the stars and starlike things, and thoughts, the undaunted challenge of events, the unfailing childlike appetite for what next, and the joy of the game of living.

DON'T MISS THE BANQUET!

"Help us beat our past record by attending our Fall Banquet," asks Lonnie Lawson whose presiding as chief chef has become a tradition for this major OMI Community Association event.

Held at Temple Methodist Church Social Hall, Beverly at Sargent, the banquet is at 6 p.m., Saturday, November 12.

In order to maintain the high quality to which we have become accustomed, there will be a slight raise in price: $6.00 for adults, $3.00 for children.

The co-producer of the event will be Joe Mannon who will prepare his specialties. Chester Toney will display his talents as well. Mr. Lawson also mentioned the unsung heroes and heroines: Anne Browning, Margaret Dorn, and Eleanor Siden, plus many others.

Sarb Seeks Representatives

The San Francisco County School Attendance Review Board (SARB) is seeking representation from each of the San Francisco Mental Health Catchment Areas. OMI's district is District V (Sunset, Richmond, Parkside, Oceanview-Merced Heights-Ingleside.)

SARB was created by the California Legislature in a state-wide effort to (1) coordinate, integrate, and improve public and private services for the prevention of Juvenile delinquency and (2) divert youths from the juvenile system.

SARB applicants must be at least 18 years old, reside or work within the catchment area they are to represent, be sponsored by a community organization which has demonstrated a continuing interest and involvement in youth activities and education, and be willing to make a weekly commitment for a minimum of one year. Parents of children now enrolled in kindergarten through twelfth grade are encouraged to apply.

Interested persons may submit their resumes and letters of sponsorship to San Francisco County, School Attendance Review Board, 135 Van Ness Avenue, Room 16, San Francisco, Ca. 94102, or telephone 565-9333 for further information.

OMICA could be a sponsor, as in the past.

Childcare Information and Referrals — for parents seeking childcare. The Childcare Switchboard, 282-7858, maintains files on a variety of childcare resources including: full-time care and part-time care; publically subsidized and private care; family day care homes, cooperatives and playgroups.

Old Times

EARLY POLITICAL ACTION

The Broderick-Terry Duel, fought at Lake Merced in 1859, was the last duel in California, ending an era where affairs of Honor were settled by the gun, and also, ending a time when men, especially politicians, were 100% responsible for what they said.

United States Senator David C. Broderick and California Supreme Court Judge David S. Terry were men of great personal appeal, both leaders in their political parties — Broderick, leader of the democratic anti-slavery faction and Terry, one of the leaders of the Chivalry Party, a pro-south Democrat. The results of the duel were tragic, death for Broderick and ruin for Terry.

Although ideology probably was the major underlying factor for the duel, Broderick and Terry had been, in the past, mutually supportive during the Vigilante Committee upsets in San Francisco during the early '50s. Broderick even spent considerable funds attempting to sway public opinion towards Terry when he was being tried by the Vigilantes for defending the States rights to arrest and bring to trial the criminals of San Francisco. Terry had knifed a Vigilante in the face while trying to move a prisoner. Terry was found innocent after a six-week trial.

During the elections of 1859, Judge Terry, as a member of the Chivalry Party, campaigned against the anti-slave faction in the Democratic Party. In a speech at the Democratic Convention in Sacramento, he denounced the anti-slave group as a "miserable remnant of a faction sailing under false colors, trying to obtain votes under false pretenses." He didn't attack Broderick personally but named him as the leader of the faction.

Broderick heard about the speech and remarked to Terry's best friend, D.W. Pearley, Esq., over breakfast the next week, that Terry "is a damned miserable wretch" and twice called him a dishonest judge. Pearley called him out but Broderick refused him, since they weren't of the "same station" and he was too busy with the election right then anyway, but said that he "may reconsider after the election" in September.

Came September, and Broderick lost most of the votes; his party was on the way out. Terry wrote to him and demanded an apology for the past offense. Broderick wrote back to ask just what offense was he talking about? In Terry's reply he outlined exactly what offense, — the "miserable wretch" and "dishonest" stuff. Broderick wrote that he didn't think that it so offensive and didn't apologize. Terry sent around his seconds and the duel was on.

"Place of meeting, on the farm adjoining the Lake House ranch. The road to the farm-house leaves the Old Lake House road, where you strike the first fence of the Lake House property, about a mile before you reach the Lake House. There you take a road to the left, which brings you to the farm house, on the upper end of the lake (Laguna Merced), occupied by William Higgins. This is the general neighborhood; the precise spot to be determined when the parties meet."

The spot happened to be in San Mateo County, presumably to escape the San Francisco police, since dueling was definitely against the law.

The gentlemen met that morning and were just getting set when the San Mateo Sheriff arrived and promptly arrested the two duelers. They were taken to the San Mateo Judge, who just as promptly released them since no breach of the peace had been made yet.

The gentlemen agreed to meet the next morning, same time, same place. Broderick spent the night at the Ocean House, a road-house attached to a race track north of Lake Merced, while Terry stayed at the home of William Higgins, east of the Lake. Broderick reportedly didn't sleep for the fleas and cold and left for the duel the next morning without even a cup of coffee to warm his soon-to-be-punctured body. Terry slept like a log in a feather-bed; Mrs. Higgins cooked a large breakfast for him the next morning.

Five from OMI Seek District 9 seat

by George Fulmore

The campaign for District 10 supervisor is over before it began: Quentin Kopp is the only candidate.

But in District 9, which includes the bulk of the OMI, there should be a real horserace: 13 candidates are entered, 5 of whom are OMI residents.

With a total of about 30,000 registered voters in District 9, it is estimated that as few as 4,500 votes will be needed for a victory in this no-runoff election. For this reason, OMI residents can be expected to be hounded for their vote in an unprecedented fashion.

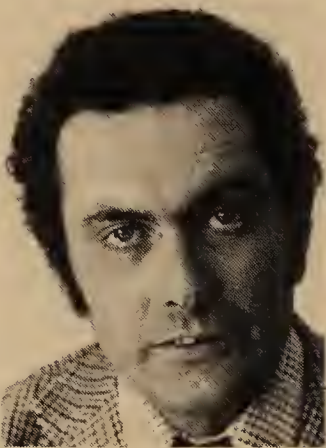

The five candidates profiled in this article will be invited along with the other eight District 9 Supervisorial Candidates to the OMI-CA candidate's forum to be held at 3 p.m. on Sunday, October 23, at Temple Methodist Church, Beverly at Shields Streets. Also invited will be the three candidates for City Attorney and Incumbent City Treasurer Thomas Scanlon and his challenger, Kay Pachtner.

The following is a brief profile, in alphabetical order, of each of the five OMI entries:

RICHARD BOYLE, 706 Monterey Blvd.: Undoubtedly the only candidate who is a third-generation resident of what is now called District 9, Richard Boyle, 35, grew up on Byxbee St. in the OMI. He attended Balboa High, City College and S.F. State.

As a writer/journalist for much of the past 15 years, he has been a foreign editor for Pacific News Service, been published in several national magazines, written two books, been editor of the Haight-Ashbury Independent and worked for the San Francisco Chronicle.

His involvement with San Francisco civic affairs has included membership on the Greater Mission Citizens' Council, Upper Market Development Committee, and the Mayor's Market Street Coordination Council. Currently, he is a member of the Sunnyside Neighborhood Association and active in the

Richard Boyle

Bob Covington

American Veteran's Movement.

Boyle told the OMI NEWS that he hopes to ring every doorbell in District 9 in order to present his candidacy. Among his goals as supervisor would be 500 new jobs for District 9 residents, an Ingleside Health Center, and an OMI supervisor's office.

BOB COVINGTON, 221 Louisburg St.: The most well-oiled campaign by OMI hopefuls may well belong to Bob Covington, 36, who has a full-time staff working out of his 1441 Ocean Avenue headquarters. Co-chaired by two knowledgeable politicians, Nancy Walker and Gene Coleman, the Covington campaign will include literature drops and canvassing throughout the OMI.

The former Executive Director of the San Francisco Pretrial Diversion Project, Covington is Chairman of the San Francisco Black Political Caucus and a member of the OMI-CA. In his campaign he will stress his experience with the pro-north on Ashton across Ocean Ave. and then north to encircle Mt. Davidson. If you live west and north of this line, you are in Supervisorial District 10.

Thus, the districts of Merced Heights, Ingleside, Ocean View, Sunnyside and most of Westwood Terrace are in District 9; the districts of Ingleside Terrace and Balboa Terrace are in District 10.

blems of criminal justice, transportation, housing and community development. Health and food services are two issues that he rates of immediate importance to the OMI.

ED FREEMAN, 745 Plymouth Ave.: A Hastings Law School graduate, Ed Freeman, 41, has lived in the OMI for 22 years. For the past several years he has headed the OMI Trucking Company, which has trained several hundred "disadvantaged" persons to be qualified truck drivers, brought the food supplement program of the Economic Opportunity Center to 100 Broad St., developed a child care facility and currently operates the OMI Food Stamp Outlet on Ocean Avenue.

Formerly on the board of directors of the Economic Opportunity Council, Freeman is now a member of the Democratic County Central Committee and on the board of the San Francisco Neighborhood Legal Assistance Foundation.

He told the OMI NEWS that he thinks the OMI deserves to have more money coming into the area in the form of job programs for residents. He is also concerned with overall neighborhood economic development and lower taxes for homeowners.

Les Payne

LES PAYNE, 343 Tara St.: Having run against Leo McCarthy in 1970 for the State Assembly District #19 seat gives Les Payne, 51, some firsthand political experience. A resident of the OMI for the past 16 years, he has been with the San Francisco Youth Authority for the of directors and is currently a member of the Lion's Club.

He said that his campaign will be based on going to the people with his qualifications and insights. He feels that the major problems for OMI residents include a lack of services for seniors, crime, unemployment, a lack of youth recreation programs, and increasing property taxes. He also said that he is concerned with "a total San Francisco."

MACHAEL THOMAS, 50 St. Charles St.: A San Francisco policeman for the past two years, Machael Thomas, 31, is admittedly a political novice involved in his first campaign. He was inspired to run for supervisor because he thinks that his work on the police force has given him a "sensitivity" toward OMI people and their needs. He also feels that the OMI has lacked the political leadership to get federal and state programs that other San Francisco communities have received.

Thomas has lived in the OMI the past 22 years; he attended Farragut School, City College and S.F. State. Following a stint in the Navy, he worked at a number of jobs, including as a welder in shipyards and a worker in a methadone maintenance program. He also did volunteer work in San Francisco hospitals, in a Bernal Heights tutorial program, and as the scout master of the Farragut School Boy Scout Troup.

Mr. Gage reported that the tournament was not financially successful as in the past. He would welcome more contributions, to make up the deficit to OMI Community Association, 201 Granada, San Francisco, CA. 94112.

Patience Scales Weds

Patience Barnes Scales and Charles M. Hudspeth were married Sunday, September 25 at the Third Baptist Church.

An OMI resident, the bride has become well known in the music field. She is an active member of the Music Teacher's Association and the Golden Gate Musician's Union, and a private instructor of piano and theory for many years. She founded Parade of Youth, Inc., in 1959 which presents an annual production at the War Memorial Opera House. Her many honors include being chosen one of the ten most distinguished women for 1969 by the SF Examiner, and Sun Reporter Woman of the Year. She has three sons by a previous marriage.

Mr. Hudspeth is also active in the music field and is a member of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 510. He has served as pianist for 15 years for the Third Baptist Church.

The bride and groom will combine their studios, and will work from the current Patience Scales location at 30 Lobos for the time being. They have worked together for some time on Parade of Youth and other activities.

BALBOA REUNION

Balboa High School's graduating class of Fall 1937 is planning a 40th reunion on Nov. 5. For information, call either Frank Castellano (558-3697) or Ray Castor (697-8376).

LOWELL HIGH'S 20TH REUNION

Lowell High's 20th reunion will be held on Saturday, October 8. It has been requested that members of the February and June 1957 classes should get in touch with Cathryn Brash at Lowell High School for details; phone 566-7900, Extension 39.

No host cocktails will begin at 7 p.m. A sit-down dinner will be served at 8:30 p.m.; cost is $15.00 per person. Dinner and dancing music will be provided by "The Skylarks."

CALVIN FONG MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP

Riordan High School has announced that the Riordan Alumni Association in conjunction with the school's Development Office has established a memorial scholarship in memory of Calvin Fong, class of 1977.

Calvin, an honor student at Riordan and a member of the California Scholarship Federation, was gunned down on September 4th when three masked men sprayed the Golden Dragon Restaurant with bullets.

A scholarship will be awarded annually to a Chinese youth.

Contributions may be sent to the Riordan Alumni Association, c/o The Calvin Fong Memorial Scholarship Fund, 173 Phelan Avenue, San Francisco, California 94112.

Tuesday morning at "5 1/2" they met again. Eye witness accounts reported Broderick restless, walking up and down while the seconds saw to the details. Terry was calm. Their personal surgeons arrived and Terry's, in a show of outlandish unconcern, threw his coat on the ground and lay down to view the duel from a supine position. Broderick's doctor arrived later with a large bag full of clinking tools, bandages and a large saw protruding from the top. The doctor went to Broderick and proceeded to pace up and down with him, dragging the bag of instruments behind him. By the time the men were asked to take their respective positions to begin the duel Broderick was a wreck, so stiff with nervousness that he could move only in a "jerky, uncoordinate fashion."

The rules stated that on the call of "Fire!" the men were to raise their pistols and fire. The caller would continue to count "One," "Two," with no one to fire after the count "Two." Broderick raised his gun and fired at the count of "One," but the shot went into the ground nine feet in front of him. Terry fired right after the count of "One" but before "Two" and hit Broderick a glancing blow to the chest. Broderick fell and his surgeon pronounced him not seriously wounded. Terry went home, thinking Broderick would soon recover. Broderick died three days later to the surprise of everyone. Apparently the bullet had penetrated the lung.

Terry was absolved of guilt but lost his judgeship. He never again obtained the stature or the power that he once had.

With Dr. Konnilyn G. Feig named to a top administrative post, San Francisco State University at 19th & Holloway receives its first woman vice president.

During the nearly seven decades since the school's activation, two other women have held high-ranking executive roles: in the summer of 1927 Mary Ward, then Dean of Women, held the office of acting president, and Dr. Helen Bedesem, now professor of music, served as Dean of Student Affairs during the early 1970's.

Vice President Feig, former Dean of Arts & Sciences at the University of Maine, has had wide administrative experience. Also a writer and lecturer, she has two books forthcoming under a Jewish Federation Grant, and published an earlier work, "The Sanity of Madness: Hitler's Concentration Camps."

A dramatic interpretation of the astronomy of old China will be offered this month, starting October 19, at the University Planetarium in a sky-show, "The Blue Dragon," presented free on Wednesdays at noon in Room 422 of the Physical Science building at the northern section of the campus. It depicts what the ancients of Cathay saw in the stars. Free reservation tickets may be secured at the Student Union Information Desk at the center of the campus.

The University's acclaimed music program proceeds into full function this month. The free-to-the-public Artists' Series is inaugurated by the husband and wife team, the Zsigmondy Duo, playing Beethoven, Debussy and Bartok on Sunday, October 2, at 3 p.m. in the McKenna Theater. On October 30, the Bulgarian Quartet from Sofia plays the next Artists' Series concert.

A faculty song recital is scheduled at 8 p.m. Tuesday, October 11, with Patrick and Victoria Neve heard in selections by Debussy, Robert Schumann and Ralph Vaughn Williams.

The University Orchestra Concert conducted by Laszlo Varga, professor of music, features the piano solo work of the Netherland artist Herman Vanderkamp, associate professor of music. This program, which includes the works of Beethoven, Rachmaninoff and Schuller, is on October 25 at 8 p.m. in McKenna Theater.

S.F. State's theater arts program unfolds this month with two historic productions: from October 11 through 15, the 12th century drama, "The Lion in Winter" by William Goldman, concerning the uneasy political-marital alliance between Henry II of England and Eleanor Aquitaine, the "Damsel of Brittany," is presented in the Little Theater at 8 p.m.; it is directed by graduate student Wayne Strei. — From October 25 through 29 in the Arena Theater, there's an Interpreter's Theater production concerned with the 19th Century Bronte family, "The Bells of Haworth," written and directed by Alex Flett, associate professor of theater arts.

The Cinematheque, coordinated by John Webber, lecturer on film, continues the fall movie series based on the works of director Federico Fellini. In the McKenna Theater the much-touted "La Dolce Vita" (1960) plays Wednesday, October 5, at 7 p.m. There will be one showing of "Fellini's Roma" (1972) at 1 p.m. on Thursday, October 6, and three showings at 3, 7 and 9 p.m. on Friday, October 7. "Nights of Cabiria" (1956) is the co-feature.

Other Fellini attractions this month will be "A Director's Notebook" (1973) on October 11 (7 p.m.) and October 12 (noon and 1 p.m.) and the notorious "Satyricon" (1970) on October 11 (8 p.m.), October 12 (7:30 p.m.), and October 13 (1 p.m.).

New Faculty

PTG President Mrs. Marie Samiere reports that St. Michaels welcomed two new faculty members to their staff. Mrs. Bryant, who teaches fifth grade, Mrs. Crosby, who leads the seventh grade. Welcomed back from a two year sabbatical in Ireland is Sister Theresa who teaches second grade.

NEW ASSISTANT PASTOR AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Father Joseph Gordon recently joined St. Michael's Catholic Church on Broad St. as assistant pastor. He was born in Boston and moved to the Bay Area in his youth where he graduated from Our Lady of Perpetual Help grammar school in Daly City and St. Ignatius High School in S.F. Father Gordon was very active in the Vietnam refugee program at his previous parish, Mater Dolorosa, in South S.F. He sponsored and helped settle 3 families in the area. We welcome Father Gordon to the O.M.I. community.

A CHURCH LOOKS INTO THE COMMUNITY

by Mattie Collins

Recently Rev. Chester McCall, Pilgrim Community Church, is implementing new, innovative programs, the most significant of which is the Sunday morning 11 o'clock service. Members are now a part of the service. Another important experience is the vibrating sound of the Pilgrim Church Chancel Choir.

An important community function operating out of the church is a SENIOR CITIZENS PROGRAM.

Operating on church property is a CHILD CARE CENTER, housed in the Maud Harris Building next door to the church. The building will be used mainly in the evening and on weekends for other new programs being introduced by the church. Plans are under way to remodel the building to bring it up to building code specification. Money for these improvements has been appropriated by a grant. The child care center is operated by Ms. Evelyn Cox, who also directs the Children's Drama Theatre, pression of religious and ethnic experiences. All teens and young adults who are interested in joining the group should call Rev. Henry Roundtree, Jr. (586-3124 — leave a message) or Mattie Collins (585-9795).

Another program to be introduced soon is a tutoring service for all ages, to include a "special reading" class for the young adult who cannot read, or feels that he/she does not read well.

A Teen Drop-in Center is soon to be a very important function of the church. This will be similar to the present Senior Citizens Program and will be dealing with many activities attractive to young people.

COMMUNITY FOCUS

Rev. McCall is available for pastoral counseling through the church. Through Group House, Inc. Rev. McCall does non-religious counseling of individuals and group counseling for parents, children and adults of all ages. He uses various techniques; however, emphasis is on Transactional Analysis (TA).

Sometime this month, Rev. McCall will be doing a TA/and Religious Group session, giving people a way of discovering how to live out their faiths. Groups are open to all faiths, or anyone who wishes to join. To learn more about this service, call 586-3124 or 584-5052.

YOUTH PROGRAMS

Other new programs due to be implemented soon by the church are a youth choir and drama group called "The Voices of Christ," starting October 22. Drama and music will be used as an ex-

Mattie Collins (right) who reports on Pilgrim Church news, has four children, finds time to be active in many community groups, and is a former secretary of the OMI-CA. She is shown here with OMI NEWS editor Adria Garabedian (center), and Margaret Cruz, OMI resident.

HOMWOOD TERRACE DEVELOPMENT, HEARING ON OCTOBER 13

The Planning Department hearing for authorization of a planned unit development of the subdivision of Homewood Terrace Property, will take place Thursday, Oct. 13, Rm. 282, City Hall, after 2 p.m.

76-24 ft. front lots are involved, where 20 single family, 42 family, and 8 six unit structures are to be constructed, totaling 148 units. Included will be the landscaping plan for open areas, plus plans for off street parking and 110 on street parking spaces.

The hearing was carried over to this date at the request of a St. Francis Wood resident, who wishes to study the plans further.

NEW ON OCEAN

Alton L. Pitts has been busy renovating the key shop at 1439 Ocean. It is freshly painted and boasts a large wall covered with keys. Pitt's Lock & Key Service offers a full stock and competitive prices.

Keys made by code are a specialty.

This new to Ocean Avenue shop owner lives nearby in Westwood Park. He has moved his business from another location just outside the OMI area.

Fuschias are Mr. Pitts' hobby and he is a member of the Fuschia Society.

FREE HOME INSULATION

You may qualify for free home weatherization services if you own your home and are low-income, elderly, or handicapped. Your heating and cooling bills can be greatly reduced with adequate insulation and simple weatherstripping.

For information, call the area OMI EOC office, 334-8779, 100 Broad, or the head office of EOC, 730 Polk, 771-7199, Ext. 294.

BLACK PARENTS' 4TH ANNIVERSARY POTLUCK

The Concerned Black Parents of Lowell High School will celebrate their fourth anniversary with a potluck dinner in the Lowell Cafeteria Saturday Oct. 29, 7 to 11 p.m. This will be an informal family affair, with no speaker. There will be music. Children under 12 are invited to participate in Halloween costume, a parade and contest.

The group is now incorporated as a non-profit organization. Its purpose is to help Lowell respond to the needs of black students, to help the black student respond to Lowell and the community, to help black parents use collective power to achieve effective education of students at Lowell.

For information, call Roberta Simmons, 586-8023.

FREE HELP FOR SMALL BUSINESS

The Small Business Institute at San Francisco State University, which this fall began its sixth year of successful consulting, is now accepting small business clients.

Under the direction of Professor Audrey Warren and assisted by Dale Newhouse, the institute provides free and low-cost consulting services including marketing, finance, accounting, and management. The institute has consulted over 150 small businesses in the San Francisco area using the "team" concept of faculty and students.

The Institute is sponsored by the School of Business at SFSU under a grant from the Small Business Administration. Prospective clients should call the SBI at 469-2397 for further information.

Mrs. Mae Clark, 1976-77 Co Chair CBP, and treasurer of the OMI-CA Board.
